Circular to Tax Collectors.
OFFICE OF THE COMPTROLLER GENERAL,
CHARLESTON, S. C., March 25, 1861.
Various interrogatories addressed to this Department in relation to Taxes levied by Act 1861, having been referred to the Attorney-General, the following communication was received in reply. In construing the Act, Tax Collectors throughout the State will be governed by the opinion of the Attorney-General, as published herewith. Attention is also called to the "Additional Directions" appended hereto:
OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL,
March 22, 1861.
To W. J. Level, Esq., Acting Comptroller-General:
Sir: Your note of the 18th, received yesterday, proposes some questions in regard to which I find it difficult to come to any satisfactory conclusion. Much, after all, in the matter of tax returns, depends on the discretion and conscience of the taxpayer.
1. "Salaries" apply, I think, to fixed amounts received annually, or at shorter periods, for services, other than mental or bodily manual. We speak of the "wages" of Coachmen and Ditchers, although engaged by the year, and paid quarterly; and of the "salaries" of a Public Officer, a Clerk or Schoolmaster. Overseers generally receive wages; but, when a man overlooks, perhaps, three or four plantations, and receives several thousand dollars, the compensation would tend to dignify of a salary. I would take an Overseer, return either way he chose to make it. All responsibility for work not coming under the head of salary would be "wages." Salaries are taxable, however small, and for the whole amount. Wages are taxable when they exceed $500 a year, and then, in my opinion, only on the excess over that amount. Both salary and wages are compensation for the taxpayer's own services.
2. The salaries of fiscal officers are not exempted from tax, nor the salaries of any other officers than those of the Army or Navy.
3. Wages of journeymen mechanics, I think, are exempt, under the exception you refer to.
4. A Tax Collector's commissions, if not salary, would, in its widest sense, come under the head of "wages," or might be embraced under the head of "employment." The Legislature meant that all persons, not specially excepted, should contribute something from their earnings, and public officers are especially included. Though not, in the ordinary sense, salary, I think that Tax Collectors' incomes would be most appropriately returned under that head.
5. Notes and obligations given for PROPERTY SOLD, WHETHER MERCHANDISE OR OTHERWISE, IF ON TIME OR BEARING INTEREST, would, I think, be liable to taxation, as moneys at interest. Notes given for merchandise usually have the interest incorporated in the amount, and this I should consider as exempting them, and not an evasion; the law is intended for cases in which the paper is in some sort an investment.
6. Funds not reduced to possession, and from which no present income is derived, are not within the provisions of the Act, and such is the situation generally of annuities in the hands of Masters and business men. The persons to whom it should be fairly decided that these funds belong, are not liable to tax, and the Master and Commissioner are certainly not liable.
Professional income I consider as the amount the professional man receives after the expenses necessarily incident to the exercise of his profession have been deducted. Whether an exemption may be considered as necessarily incident, in a great degree depend on the views of the Legislature who makes the return.
I. W. HAYNE, Attorney-General.

Additional Directions to Tax Collectors.
Returns of "moneys loaned" and "moneys at rest," investments in stocks and bonds, &c., to be made with reference to the year ending December, 1860, and must be for the principal invested.
The exemption of the "Bonds and Stocks of this State" from the tax of 10 cents per $100 on moneys invested in stocks, &c., relates exclusively to the Bonds and Stocks of the State of South Carolina.
Investments in the Stocks only of the Banks and real Companies of this State, are exempt from the tax of such Bonds and Corporations not included in this exemption.
The case of citizens or lands sold on 1st October, the seller and not the purchaser, is liable for tax; the law does not consider fractions of a cent.
Returns of dogs kept by slaves and free persons, must be made with reference to 1st October, 1860; these returns are not to be local assessments.
Returns already received, which have not been in conformity with the law, are above counsel and explained, should be corrected.
April 4, 1861

Bank of State of South Carolina.
CHARLESTON, February 12th, 1861.
THE Legislature having, at its late session, authorized the issue of Bonds to the amount of $675,000, being an interest of seven per cent, for the purpose of providing the funds required to sustain the State, the act of resuming her rights of sovereignty, the Bank is now prepared to dispose of the Bonds. They are issued in sums of $50, $100 and $500. An opportunity is thus afforded every citizen to obtain a secure and profitable investment, while contributing all to the cause in which the State is engaged. With a view of enabling citizens in any part of the State to share in the loan, the Clerks of the courts of the several Districts have been required to open books of subscription for the Stock. Suitable arrangements will be made for furnishing the Bonds on the receipt of the money, at an early day after each subscription has been made. Engagements for the purchase of Bonds may be made at the Bank, or any of its Branches. It is probable that at the next session of the Legislature, those parties who desire it may have their Bonds converted into Stock.
